List of Courses (M.A. / M.Sc. in Defence and Strategic Studies)

FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF DEFENCE AND STRATEGIC STUDIES
The Department of Defence and Strategic Studies has adopted the semester/credit system from the academic year 2001-2002. Under this system, students are required to complete 64 credits to secure a M.A. or and M.Sc. degree in Defence and Strategic Studies. Of these 64 credits, 52 credits would be from the courses offered by the Department. The student has the choice of taking the remaining 12 credits from the courses offered in the department or from any other department.

Syllabus

(From the Academic Year 2008-09)

Semester I

OBJECTIVES (For the Core Courses): The first four courses of the syllabus taught during Semester I seek to provide the student with basic knowledge of certain concepts that are the base of understanding problems of security. The first course on Strategic Studies focuses on the evolution of Strategic Studies and the concepts associated with problems of war and peace. The course on Geopolitics and Military Geography focuses on the geographic dimensions of strategy, that on International Relations provides the backdrop in which strategic studies needs to be understood and the course on National Security focuses on India and its security policies.

Semester II

OBJECTIVES (For the Core Courses): The Course on Peace and Conflict Studies continues to focus on conceptual aspects of peace and conflict. The other courses move away from the conceptual dimension. The course on Military History focuses on the Indian military tradition and understanding of Indian Military history since the ancient times until Indian independence. The course on Defence Organisation seeks to introduce the student to the structural dimensions of the Indian security system. This semester has a course on Research Methodology. The purpose is to train the students to conduct research in security studies. The students are taken through a process of writing research proposals and also introduced to writing research essays.

Semester III

OBJECTIVES (For the Core Courses): Economics of Defence in the Indian context is an important area that needs to be introduced to the student studying strategic studies. This semester seeks to do that. It also introduces the social science student to the developments in science and technology that have had an impact on the approaches to security over the ages. The changes in weapon systems and the method of warfare that come about due to innovations in science and technology are sought to be introduced in the course on Science, Technology and National Security.
